

I would appreciate it if you-all left this list alone, calls during dinner, before school, after school, during homework, and family time are great without the pest of useless computer messages and assinine people selling nothing is just fine in our home. Find something else to do, Thank you for your time in this matter.